'95 - Update

3/16/95, Issue # 1.0.0

As instituted by Andy, Fern, and Dave of HW-UCLA, fees are $10. The winner is the person who collects the most points. Point values are as follows: Two (2) points for each FIRST ROUND game winner correctly picked (32 games/64 points possible); Three (3) points for each SECOND ROUND game winner picked (16/48); Four (4) points for each ROUND OF 16 game winner picked (8/32); Six (6) points for correctly picking each team making the FINAL FOUR in Seattle (4/24); Eight (8) points for correctly picking each team making it to the CHAMPIONSHIP GAME (2/16); and Twelve (12) points for correctly picking the 1995 NCAA NATIONAL CHAMPION (1/12). There are a total of 63 games (196 points).

There are twelve (12) participants for a pool of $120 (before Andy and Dave embezzle their fair share ;-)). FIRST PLACE wins $70.00; SECOND PLACE wins $30.00; and THIRD PLACE wins $20.00. If in the unlikely event someone picks all 32 games in the first round (i.e., picks all 32 losers!), then Andy will institute the BRIAN CLAUSE™, in which that person will receive their $10.00 back and an invitation never to participate in any more HWCi Pools. If there is a tie, I have no idea how to resolve it (Dave, Andy?).

Here is the current bracket as of the morning of the date above. Follow your teams to the Final Four (or not)!

A sucker to participate in this in the first place :-),

From: Andy

Date: 16-MAR-1995

Hello to everyone out there in basketball land.

It's that time of year again. The birds are singing, the Clippers are losing, and there's hope in Westwood. Here's the first installment of the NCAA pool update. It's a bit past 12:30 PM on the first day of the tournament and we already have some major upsets. Arizona's going home early again. I guess that means the rest of the Pac-10 will do well this year (more hope in Westwood). In case you haen't noticed, every year that the Wildcats lose in the first round every other team in the Pac-10 does well in both the NIT and NCAA tournament. Last year, 'Zona went to the final four and every Pac-10 team lost in the first round of the NIT or NCAA. So far this year, Arizona has lost and Washington State won their first round NIT game. So far, so good.

Also, Oklahoma is taking an early Spring break. For those who picked either of these two teams to go far (and I do remember seeing Arizona deep in some of the predictions), better luck tomorrow.

Now for the rules of the pool (which you can no longer get out of despite choosing Arizona and Oklahoma)...

There are a total of 11 entries [so far]. The entry fee is $10 per person. First place will be awarded $65, second will get $30, third place earns $15, and fourth place gets to contemplate where they went wrong.

Points will be awarded as follows...

Round	Points per correct answer
1	2
2	3

5	8
6	12

Highest score wins (obviously).

And since there have already been a couple of major upsets in the first round, the Brian Clause<sup>TM</sup> will be put into effect. The clause states that if you incorrectly choose all 32 first round games, you're $10 entry fee will be refunded out of pity. Also, you will be barred from all future basketball pools. I hope we don't have to use this.

Additional updates will come after every round. Watch the games, have fun, and do your best Dick Vitale imitation when Bob Myers slams home his eighty point of the year versus Florida International.

I hope the Bruins don't follow in the footsteps of Arizona,

Andy

izzy3mg@mvs.oac.ucla.edu

P.S. The information about Arizona and Oklahoma was taken off the internet minutes after the end of each game, so I hope the scores are correct.

Date: 17-MAR-1995

It's just about 10:00 PM Friday night and the last (and most boring) game of the first round has finally ended. For all of you who are interested in the current standings in our pool, you have to wait a couple of minutes. Before I release the standings, there has been a slight change in the structure of the pool. There are now 12 people in the pool. I was unaware of the latest addition at the time I wrote the original newsletter. Apparently, we managed to recruit one more person before the entry deadline passed. The new prize money goes as follows: 1st place gets $70, 2nd place gets $30, 3rd place gets $20, and fourth place still gets to kick him or herself in the head for picking Villanova over Old Dominion. And now for the current standings...

Out of a possible 64 points (two points per first round game) the leader is The Fabone with 52 points and a possible final score of 172 out of 196. There is a tie for second between Liver Boy and The Mighty Mobelfakta. Both entrants have 50 points and a possible final score of 170. The complete list of current standings are as follows:

Rank	Name	Points	Tot	Poss	Pts
1	The Fabone	52	172
2-T	Liver Boy	50	170
2-T	The Mighty Mobelfakta	50	170
4	God's Picks	50	169
5	Bix Pix	50	163
6	Andy's Crap	48	158
7	Bad Ass	46	166
8	Traitor Jen	46	151
9	Mr. Nelson	44	170
10	Loser who didn't pick UCLA	44	169
11	Tina's Boy	44	150

12 Lil' Saigon 42 155

You should be able to figure out who you are. Most of the names are quite obvious (Andy's Crap, Liver Boy, Bad Ass, etc...).

Most surprising event of the first round: Liver Boy's performance

Least surprising event of the first round: Tina Boy's performance

If you're near the bottom of the list, don't worry. There are plenty of games left. You might want to pay special attention to the total possible points because that will give an indication of how things may shape up.

Most notable event of the first round: Bob Myers sets a career high 4 points in the game versus Florida International University.

Least notable event of the first round: Crappy CBS coverage of tournament.

Well, good luck and keep rooting for Bob.

I hope the Bruins keep on rolling,

Andy

Fabone,

That is the nickname that we have appointed for you. I am the Mighty Mobelfakta, Fern is "Bix Pix", Andy is "Andy's Crap", and there are others.

Jay's e-mail is izzy2go@mvs.oac.ucla.edu. Alvin is "Bad Ass" (preferably said with a Spanish accent), and Brian is "Liver Boy". So far, if you haven't calculated this for yourself, Alvin and Jay are tied for first.

The second round has just finished with a couple of games that went down to the wire. Arkansas lucked out, and UCLA wins despite Missouri's 63% 3-pointers courtesy of Tyus Edney's game winning basket at the buzzer. For a complete recap of the second round, go buy yourself a paper. I'm too lazy to write it all down.

As for the standings...

Rank	Name	Points	Tot	Poss	Pts
1	Bix Pix	86		160
2	Loser who didn't pick UCLA	86	156
3	The Mighty Mobelfakta	83		167
4	God's Picks	83		163
5	The Fabone	82		166
6	Lil' Saigon	81		155
7	Mr. Nelson	80		164
8	Bad Ass	79		163
9	Traitor Jen	79		145
10	Andy's Crap	78		148
11	Liver Boy	74		148
12-Z	Tina's Boy	74		144

z-Eliminated from prize money

Worst performance of the second round: Liver Boy - picked only 8/16 correct. He fell from 2nd place to 2nd to last.

Best performance: Loser who didn't pick UCLA - 14/16 for the 2nd round. He climbed from 10th place to a pseudo tie for first.

Currently, everyone is still in the running for prize money except for Tina's Boy. After only the second round, Tina's Boy has been mathematically eliminated from winning any money (and we're not kidding). Lil' Saigon and Andy's Crap are eliminated from first place contention. Their best hope is for second place [Ed].

Once again, Tina's Boy might as well send in his money and stop following the tournament (with the exception of rooting for UCLA).

Well, there's the recap. Keep watching UCLA win, and good luck.

I hope the Bruins don't stop at Oakland,

Andy

Scott,

Here's a listing of any names you might not know. You should be able to figure out Andy's Crap (obvious man<sup>TM</sup>), Liver Boy, Tina's Boy, and Bad Ass. The rest are as follows...

The Mighty Mobelfakta	Dave
Bix Pix	Fern
God's Picks	Jay (Dave's roommate)
Mr. Nelson	Nelson (Jay's friend)
Traitor Jen	Jen (UCLA Bruin who didn't pick UCLA to win it all)
Loser who didn't pick UCLA	Dennis (Alvin's friend)
Lil' Saigon	Man (UCLA Bruin who did pick UCLA to win it all)
The Fabone	?????

Either we forgot to enter you in the pool or... you can figure it out.

If you can't figure out why you are "The Fabone" ask one of us. Don't forget to give us a call if you're coming up to the home of the 1995 NCAA Men's Basketball champions. And I'm not talking about Kentucky, Maryland, or any of those other losers.

Off to Oakland...

Fabone,

Very quickly, here are the essentials to the pool. Only five people are still in the running for any money: Mr. Nelson, Lil' Saigon, Bix Pix, The Fabone, and The Mighty Mobelfakta. Lil' Saigon can only win third place if UNC goes to the final. Mr. Nelson can only win second if Arkansas goes to the final. The Fabone can only win second (sorry) if UNC goes to the final. Bix Pix can win it all if Arkansas goes to the final, but if they don't, he doesn't win any money at all. As for The Mighty Mobelfakta, he can win if UNC goes to the final, and will be third if Arkansas loses. The Mighty Mobelfakta is currently holding a one point lead over Bix Pix, who is two points ahead of The Fabone. That is all.

3/28/95, Issue # 10.4.3 "Striaght from the mouth of MM..."

It will be West Regional Champion #1 UCLA vs East Regional Champion #4 Oklahoma St. & Midwest REgional Champion #2 University of Arkansas vs Southeast Regional Champion #2 University of North Carolina. Arkansas are the defending NCAA national champions. UCLA were ranked #1 going into the Tournament. As for the 1st HWCi Pool, here are the scenarios:

Since everyone who has a chance at prize money picked UCLA as one of their two choices, the determining factor will be the UA-UNC match on Saturday.

IF UNC WINS

- 1st Place: The Mighty Mobelfakta (chose UNC)
- 2nd Place: The Fabone (UNC)
- 3rd Place: Lil' Saigon (UNC)

IF UA WINS

- 1st Place: Bix Pix (Arkansas)
- 2nd Place: Mr. Nelson (Arkansas)
- 3rd Place: The Mighty Mobelfakta (chose UNC)

The Mighty Mobelfakta is the only person to clinch a money spot. The other seven people are out of prize contention. Currently, The Mighty Mobelfakta leads Bix Pix by one point and The Fabone and Mr. Nelson by three points. An anti-clamatic finish for the Pool, but at least we can all concentrate on the UCLA-Ark/UNC winner on Monday. Remember, 1st Place is worth $70.00, 2nd Place is worth $30.00, and 3rd Place is worth $20.00.

Probably would finish first if we didn't count the second days of each round (1st: 13-3; 2nd: 4-4-; 3rd: 2-2; 4th: 0-2 = 19-11 as opposed to first day games of 25-5)...

3/29/95, Issue # 11.4.4 "Kentucky and KFC are not the same thing..."

Here are the Final Four picks of all twelve participants. Everyone picked UCLA to win the 1995 NCAA Championship except for Traitor Jen and Loser Who Didn't Pick UCLA (who went 0-4 for the Fourth Round), where the both picked Kentucky to win it all. No one picked all four finalists (although three picked three of four) but eight people have a chance to get both of their teams in the Championship on Monday. Traitor Jen had the worst luck, as when Villanove got knocked out in the First Round, she automatically lost 23 points. Lil' Saigon had the best luck, as despite finishing last in the First Round and having both Arizona (1st Round) and U.Mass eliminated (4th Round) prior to the Final Four, still has a chance for Third Place.

4/4/95, Issue # 14.6.2 "To all the games I cared about..."

What if we just counted those games where you actually have a stake in the outcome of that game? Who cares about Weber St.-Georgetown if you chose Michigan St. to reach the Sweet 16? Mr. Nelson had a stake in a whopping 61 of 63 games! On the flip side, both people who chose Kentucky to win it all, along with Andy's Crap had just 55 games of value.

Here would be the standings based on winning percentage of those games:

Poss	Name	Games	W-L	Pct.	AP
1	Bix Pix	58	47-11	.810	#1
2	The Fabone	58	46-12	.793	#4
3	The MM	59	46-13	.780	#3
4T	Bad Ass	57	44-13	.772	#5
4T	God's Picks	57	44-13	.772	#7
6	Liver Boy	56	43-13	.678	#8T
7	Andy's Crap	55	42-13	.764	#10
8	Traitor Jen	55	41-14	.745	#11
9	Lil' Saigon	58	43-15	.741	#6
10	Mr. Nelson	61	45-16	.738	#2
11	Tina's Boy	56	41-15	.732	#8T
12	Loser..pick UCLA	55	39-16	.709	#12

AP- Actual placement in HWC I Pool

So although Mr. Nelson had just a .738 winning percentage (10th), by having at least three more games at stake, he was able to pull off enough victories to take 2nd place in the pool (where it counts). [Added March 2003]

Only games Mr. Nelson didn't care about: Villanova-Illinois and Arizona-Virginia...

1995 National Championship Recap

Even though the 1995 championship game was not a rematch of any kind, it certainly had two teams that were accustomed to playing for the national title. The UCLA Bruins were making their 15th trip to the Final Four and looking for their 11th title, while the Arkansas Razorbacks were making their fifth trip to the Final Four and looking for back-to-back crowns. Their title search proved elusive, as UCLA captured an 89-78 victory before 38,540 spectators at the Kingdome in Seattle, Washington.

UCLA took the title in style as senior forward Ed O'Bannon (30 points), the championship's most outstanding player, and freshman Toby Bailey combined to scored 56 points to lead the Bruins to the victory despite playing without senior point guard Tyus Edney. The Bruins' playmaker logged only three minutes of playing time before being removed with an injured hand.

UCLA took a 40-39 lead with 10 seconds remaining in the first half and never relinquished it, as the Bruins held off a second half charge for the win.

Clint McDaniel led Arkansas with 16 points all of which came in the first half of play.
